Protest Detention of Editor and Press Seizure

Bangladesh has arrested the editor of popular Amar Desh, the only newspaper which remains independent and challenges government action. Mahmudur Rahman, the acting editor was arrested and his printing press was seized by the government without any judicial process. He will be detained for up to 13 days for questioning on sedition charges.

Instead of accepting responsibility for the breakdown of peace, the government is accusing Mr. Rahman for inciting violence through his news coverage of events that were also covered by reknowned Economist magazine.

The Media is being silenced! In the past couple of weeks the media has reported on riots in Bangladesh, emanating from anti-government supporters. At the same time, government forces including the police and the rapid action battalion have fired indiscriminately and killed hundreds of unarmed protestors.

There is no democracy without a free press. We need to fight for Media Freedom- NOW!

Action Items

- 1) Write to and call Reporters Without Borders and tell them what is happening. ASK that they petition for Mahmudur Rahman's release and that Amar Desh be allowed to run without threat. (Contact is: +1 202-256-5613, asia@rsf.org)
- 2) Write to and call the media outlets listed below and ASK that they write statements condemning the silencing of the media in Bangladesh.
- 3) Ask that their journalists cover the news on Bangladesh from the perspective of both sides- the government supporters, and the opposition parties.
